HANDOUTS

US-60/Grand Avenue Study Brochure and fliers on Access Management and related aspects (economic development, conflict points, roadway classifications, and joint and cross access)

OVERVIEW

Bob Hazlett, MAG project manager, provided a brief overview of the study, focusing on the key framework elements of commuter rail and access management. Jason Pagnard, study team project manager, summarized key goals of the study included safety, traffic operations, and economic viability of the corridor. Mr. Hazlett advised that public meetings were scheduled for the project in June and the study team was here to discuss the study progress and seek input.

ACCESS MANAGEMENT CONCEPT

Mr. Hazlett reviewed a roll plot with draft access management elements presented. Councilman Valenzuela said the corridor is important; he expressed that he'd like to see improved traffic operations and suggested the study team focus on the big picture.
